ACTIVITIES FOR GOVERNMENT OF ARGENTINA (No. 11, page 3)

A. Principal Activities: April 16 to May 15, 1978

1. New York office prepared and distributed eight news releases.
2. The monthly economic newsletter was prepared and mailed.
3. A list of major trade publications in all fields pertinent to the Argentine economy was drawn up, and it will be used to more specifically target our placement activities.
4. Slides were made of trade journal placements to be used in audiovisual presentations to demonstrate our work for the Argentine client.
5. Worked on developing a piece written and bylined by the Economy Minister for the op-ed page of The New York Times.
6. Compiled lists of US/Argentine imports and exports for use by other BM account groups.
7. At the request of the Argentine Consulate in New York, Burson-Marsteller made inquiries into the background of a television production company that contacted the Consulate regarding possible filming in Argentina.

B. Principal Activities: May 16 to June 15, 1978

1. New York office prepared and distributed ten news releases.
2. The monthly economic newsletter was prepared and mailed.
3. BM supplied color pictures of Buenos Aires and the Argentine countryside to a publishing firm preparing brochures for Pan American World Airways, at the suggestion of the Consulate. Additional photos and captions supplied to newspapers and magazines covered travel and tourism, agriculture, industry and cultural events.
4. A representative from the New York office attended the Amnesty International (AI) press conference on Argentina held at the Church Center for the United Nations. Following the press conference, representatives from AI arrived at BM to demonstrate and speak with someone from the agency. All proceeded without incident.
5. BM provided full media support activities during the visit of the Argentine Secretary of Energy, Daniel Brunella, to Houston and New York. This included setting up interviews with leading petroleum trades and daily newspapers in both cities, as well as disseminating new oil law information via the wire services. Following Brunella's visit, packets containing the Argentines' presentation material, the risk contract law and a recent oil release were sent to trade journals and US businessmen.
6. BM arranged an Associated Press interview for Armando Braun, a prominent Argentine businessman, during his visit to New York.

C. Principal Activities: June 16 to July 15, 1978

1. New York office prepared and distributed eleven news releases.
2. The monthly economic newsletter was prepared and mailed. This special issue contained a brief questionnaire designed to measure the letter's effectiveness in bringing economic news of Argentina to US industry decision-makers and potential investors. Based on the survey results, the newsletter will be revised accordingly.
3. A questionnaire was drawn up for US companies operating in Argentina. The replies will be used as editorial background material for company case histories written for targeted publications. A list of US companies operating in Argentina has been compiled.
4. Telephone calls were made to some 50 business/financial editors from newspapers around the country in an effort to improve BM's editorial product. The responses from these calls, in conjunction with an analysis of our previous media placement, will enable us to better target our placement activity.
5. BM provided continued assistance to members of the New York City business community by assisting a real estate broker in his pitch to a group of Argentine bankers setting up offices in New York.
6. Two BM representatives met with writers and reporters from a number of US and international newspapers, magazines and radio and TV stations in response to interview requests made in conjunction with the World Cup '78.
7. A BM representative attended a closed seminar on "Congressional Attitudes toward Human Rights Policy and Its Impact on US International Business," hosted by the Council of the Americas. A full report on this seminar, together with pertinent material, was sent to the Argentine Minister of Economy.

D. Principal Activities: July 16 to August 15, 1978

1. New York office prepared and distributed fourteen news releases.
2. The monthly economic newsletter was prepared and mailed.
3. BM and the Argentine-American Chamber of Commerce discussed an information exchange in the future on topics of mutual interest.
4. BM continues to serve the business and educational communities. A New York City shipping firm wanted information regarding routes between Argentina and the Mediterranean, and BM directed the firm to the appropriate people at ELMA's New York office. A representative from a textbook publisher requested pictures of Buenos Aires for a college text on world urban centers.
5. BM met with the North American correspondent of Editorial Atlántida to discuss a series of advertisements about Argentina prepared by the latter. The discussion centered on the newspapers and magazines to be selected, lists for a direct mail campaign and the drafting of an appropriate cover letter.
6. Visit to Argentina by Ken Huszar, Account Supervisor. Purpose of the visit was to discuss the previous quarter's activities with the Economy Minister and the Undersecretary for Foreign Investments, and to finalize two special projects: the Argentine Investor's Guide, and the target industry seminars.

E. Principal Activities: August 16 to September 15, 1978

1. New York office prepared and distributed twelve news releases.
2. The monthly economic newsletter was prepared and mailed.
3. New York office began work on compilation of the mailing list for target industry seminar in the food processing area.
4. BM provided Finnish radio with information of Argentine petroleum industry.
5. BM met with representatives from Argentina's Banco de la Nación to provide advertising and public relations counsel for the bank's opening in San Francisco. BM negotiated the purchase of print space in several newspapers, and submitted ad copy and art work provided by the bank.
6. BM New York met with representatives from The New York Times to discuss a special advertising supplement on Argentina to be published later this year. This project is being coordinated with our Argentine consultant in Buenos Aires.

F. Principal Activities: September 16 to October 23, 1978

1. New York office prepared and distributed seventeen news releases.

2. The monthly economic newsletter was prepared and mailed.

3. The final draft of the Investor's Guide was completed in New York, and the proofs, a dummy layout and samples of the paper were sent to Buenos Aires for approval by the client.

4. BM New York arranged a background interview for Jaime Perriau, a prominent Argentine businessman and former Minister of Justice, with a senior editor from Time's international department.

5. BM also continues to be an information source for the business community. An Oregon helicopter company contacted BM through the Argentine Consulate and requested information on submitting bids for on and off-shore petroleum site exploration.

(No. 11, page 3)

April 24, 1978 - October 23, 1978

1. Continued monitoring of DOE material on nuclear waste containment technology. Contact with DOE personnel.
2. Obtained various publications and information on such topics as solar and nuclear energy, high-voltage power lines, U.S. trade, Sweden and statistics on U.S. gross national product, productivity and work stoppages.
3. Undertook marketing promotion for ASEA products marketed in the U.S. by ASEA Inc., White Plains, New York
4. Consultation on proposed biennial symposia to be held in Sweden under sponsorship of ASEA and a professional or academic institution.

ATTACHMENT IV

ACTIVITIES FOR USA-REPUBLIC OF CHINA ECONOMIC COUNCIL
(No. 11, page 3)

April 24, 1978 - October 23, 1978

A Taiwanese government trade delegation of some 35 persons was in the U.S. in June and July, 1978, to sign contracts with U.S. suppliers and say what else it would like to purchase. The delegation visited some 15 U.S. cities.

Our assignment was to publicize the delegation's appearance in four cities -- Los Angeles, Chicago, Washington, D.C., and New York City. However, that assignment was amended subsequently, and the only publicizing we did was to news media in Los Angeles and Chicago.

Actually, our assignment came, not from the Taiwanese government, but from the USA-ROC Economic Council of Crystal Lake, Illinois, which is composed largely of U.S. businessmen interested in promoting trade between the United States and Taiwan. Our primary assignment was to call attention to the council, but in connection with the Taiwanese trade delegation's visit to the U.S.
